EX. GOV. PINGREE DYING.

His Wife and Daughter Telegraphed to Not Come.

By Wire to The Telegram.

London, June 18.—Hazen S. Pingree, ex-Governor of Michigan, is dying at the Grand Hotel. He has been ill more than a week with acute peritonitis and dysentery. All efforts to break the disease are in vain. During the night Mr. Pingree's condition took a turn for the forse, and it was announced this afternoon that no hope for his recovery remained. His son has been at the Governor's bedside through the night and today. It is believed that the end is not far off. Mrs. Pingree and daughter have been cabled not to come. They had hoped to reach the Governor's bed side before the end, and were to sai from New York on Wednesday. The doctors decided today that the trip would be in vain as the Governor is fast nearing his end.

Several young men of the city also appeared before the mayor charged with being drunk and disorderly on the streets. Their names are withheld on acount of their families. They were given a lecture by the mayor and promised to not repeat the offense. A small fine was also imposed upon each of them.

THE EDUCATION OF THE NEGRO.

Washington Post.

Richmond, Va., June 15.—Comfortably ensconced in a corner of the lobby at Murphy's were two delegates to the constitutional convention from the section south of the James River who represent ideas bound to be forcibly presented before finis is written on the important work of that body. The younger was Delegate Walter A. Watson, of Nottoway, who came to the State senate ten years ago at the age of twenty-four, hardly more than a boy in appearance, but now recognized in spite of his being one of the junior members of the convention, as having great intellectual power. He was the author of the Nottoway resolutions, already famous in the politics of Virginia, which precipitated the constitutional convention as an issue by vote of the May convention in Norfolk last year. Smooth shaven, compact in figure, a student of history, and possessed of an unusual command of good English, he is the opposite in many regards of his close friends, Dr. Thos. Barnes, of Nansmond, tall, angular, now past the meridian of life, quaint, but keen in conversation, and well versed in public affairs.

"To our people economy in government expenses is not the chief question in this convention," said Mr. Watson. "The sentiment is strong for restriction of suffrage, and I believe that sentiment will be respected by the delegates who are to frame a new constitution. The demand for it throughout Virginia is greater than many suppose at this time.

"Personally, I would like to see the plowshare go deepe down into the subsoil, but I recognize that what the convention may decide to do will be less radical than what the people in my own locality favor. There is a much stronger determination in the convention to restrict suffrage than appears on the surface, because most of the delegates have refrained generally from expressing their views on subjects that they will have to pass upon officially.

"An educational qualification would be only a temporary solution of this race problem," continued Mr. Watson. "To the negro, education is a different thing than to a white. It is a fetish or talisman, and he seeks to read and write not that he may remain in the fields and work intelligently, but that he may go away to the city and live by his wits. I have been Commonwealth's attorney in my county for five years, and I assure you a very large proportion of the negroes I have prosecuted for crime can read and write. I mean to inquire of the warden over here in our penitentiary how many of the colored convicts there are illiterate. I will wager that there are very few of them, indeed.

"The present system of negro education is all wrong, and the taxes of the white people go to support it. The small farmers of Virginia, as is well known, pay the bulk of the taxes. On them falls the burden of supporting our state government. But the taxes for school purposes are not paid chiefly for white schools; a large portion goes to the colored schools. The white farmer takes his children out of school at an early age to help him in planting his crops and in doing other light work; the negro children are pushed in the schools to gain an elementary education, not along practical lines, that would make them more useful, but to possess the accomplishment of knowing how to read and write."

"Do you mean to say that that is not beneficial to the negro?" was asked of Mr. Watson.

"The kind of instruction they get is wrong," he replied. "Children of the lowest class of negroes are sent to school to be taught by others of the same class, and the learning they acquire helps them but little. More often it does harm. You find few educated negroes working on the farms in Nottoway, owned by white men. A few are dawdling along on land of

A SEABOARD AIR LINE TRESTLE GIVES WAY UNDER IT.

Several Passengers Quite Badly Hurf but No One Was Killed—The Accident Occurred Near Rockingham Sunday Night

Hamlet, N. C., June 17.—Last night about 10 o'clock, the northbound Seaboard Air Line Atlanta special turned broadside off a trestle into a pond about a mile north of Rockingham. There were on board about 25 or 30 passengers, all of whom were more or less injured, several very seriously, and two, a white man and a negro, probably fatally. There were three ladies and some children aboard, none of whom were seriously hurt.

The engine and two mail cars passed over in safety, but the combination baggage and second, first-class and two Pullmans turned over. On account of the rains the piers of the trestle gave way on the left side. At the first crash all lights went out and water rushed in waist deep through the windows. Baggage-master Smith, though seriously hurt himself, at once thought of the freight following close behind. He crawled out, and seizing a lantern, hobbled down the track and flagged the freight, thereby preventing a second catastrophe. When the freight stopped he was lying on the ground unable to rise, but still waving his lantern. He fell time and time time again before he succeeded in getting far enough back to flag the train. He had to be carried back on a stretcher.

The newsboy also did heroic work, crawling through the cars helping the passengers through the transom. A relief train came with doctors, and another from Rockingham. The hotel was turned into a temporary hospital.

THEY ARE BRITISH SHIPS.

Purchase of Foreign Craft by Americans Does Not Americanize Them.

Philadelphia Press.

President Search ,of the National Manufacturers' Association, made use of a happy illustration in ridiculing the talk about the Leyland Line becoming American because a controlling interest in it has been purchased by American capitalists. If the Leyland Line is American, under such circumstances, then the American railroads in which foreigners own controlling interest are foreign roads. The controlling interest in the Erie Railroad was long held in England, but no one would have been foolish enough to call it a Britsh railroad. And the same thing was true of other railroads.

The Leyland Line is a British line, sailing under the British flag and manned by British crews. As Mr. Search remarked, it is in no sense an American line or helpful to the American merchant marine. The British newspapers are beginning to rejoice in the Amercian purchase of the stock of the Leyland Line. The Iron and Coal Trade Review, of London, says:

"If these ships had not been bought here on Amercian account, others would probably have been built in the United States by American workmen with American steel, and this country would have been a loser of both, where she is now a gainer. American shipping development on the ocean is bound to come, and the more it comes in this way the better we shall be pleased."

This is the truth of the matter. The more the United tSates develops its shipping by investing money in British lines the better the Britishers will be pleased. But the Amercians intend to have ships of their own built in American yards and manned by American crews.

Sad Case of Lunacy.

Charlotte News.

A very distressing case of lunacy comes from Clear Creek near the Surface Hill Mine. One day last week Frances Morgan, a daughter of Mrs. Jane Morgan, went suddenly deranged while working in the field and is now a raving maniac. The girl was apparently in her usual mind when she left the house in the morning. She attracted the attention of those working near her in the field by screaming. Several ran to her, but she was so violent that they could do nothing with her for some time. She was finally overcome and taken back to her home. She seized an axe lying in the yard and attempted to kill one of the neighbors. She is kept tied. An effort will be made to get her in the asylum. No one can account for her sudden derangement.

OIL AS FUEL.

It is Likely to Supplant Coal to a Very Considerable Extent.

Phladelphia Press.

The extension of the oil fields in the United States promises to lead to more extensive experiments in the use of oil for fuel. It is used now for fuel in Russia to an extent unknown in the United States,and its use in that country for such purposes is being rapidly extended. Oil is found at exisiting prices much cheaper fuel in Pennsylvania than coal.

The larger vessels plying on the southern reaches of the Volga have discarded all other fuel for oil ostatki, or residue, as it is called. These steamers of the eastern and other large companies on the Caspian Sea, although constructed with ordinary coal burning furnaces, have had them adapted to the use of oil. The London Times says taht oil as fuel has become a matter of course with Caspian and Volga shipowners, and the exhaustive experiments made by the Russian Steam Navigation Company have given the most gratifying results. Cost for cost, the experiments have conclusively demonstrated that the advantage of oil fuel over coal, the cost of oil per mile running at only one-third that of coal. In the matter of cleanliness, which means in creased comfort, there was a great advantage in favor of oil. The engineers reported that in the use of oil there was increased facility obtainable in the regulation of the heat over the whole heating surface, comparative ease of manuiplation of the fuel itself under steam pressure, and a saving of labor and waste in the stakehold, The Russian government is now experimenting with oil on some of its war vessels.

Experiments with oil as fuel are being made in Texas. A large planter in Colorado county is putting up a mill with a capacity of burning $1,000 barrels of oil a day. He says that is is one-third cheaper than coal. Hawaiian planters are conducting an inquiry into the matter. The Market Street Railway Company, of San Francisco, which controls the trolley lines in that city,is preparing to use iol instead of coal in its works. If the use of oil as fuel becomes in any sense general, it may have an infiuence on the price of coal, which would by no means be a calamity. Cheaper fuel would be a great advantage to manufacturers and to the public in general, provided it did not result in a reduction of the wages of the coal mines. But the use of oil as fuel would not cause a reduction of wages, and if cheaper than coal it would be a great public benefit.

A Stimulus in Reserve.

London Answers.

A young lady had a train to catch, and chartered a cab, which unfortunately was drawn by a very wretched horse. Hvaing told a cabby that she had to reach the station in twenty minutes, away the vehicle dashed at five miles an hour.

They had barely got fifty yards, however, before the lady put her head out of the window and requested the driver to whip the horse, as he would otherwise miss the train. He accordingly did so.

A little further on she asked him to administer the whip once more, as she cab was only just moving. Cabby again complied. Soon after she said:

"Can't you hit him on the head so as to wake him up a bit?"

Looking at the young lady, the cabby exclaimed: "Well, miss, I've 'it the hanimal all over 'is blommin' body except 'is left ear, and I'm savin' that for the last 'ill."

A LIFE AND DEATH FIGHT.

Mr. W. A. Hines of Manchester, Ia., writing of his almost miraculous escape from death says. "Exposure after measles induced serious lung trouble, which ended in Consumption. All my doctors said I must soom die. Then I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, which completely cured me. I would not be without it even if it cost $5 a bottle. Hundreds have used it on my recommendation and all say it never fails to cure Throat Chest and Lung troubles." Regular size 50c and $1. Trial bottles free at C. E. Holton's drug store.

What S. S. S. Does for Children

Children are constantly exposed to all sorts of diseases. The air they breathe is filled with germs, sewer gas and dust from the filthy streets are inhaled into the lungs and taken into the blood. At the crowded school rooms and other public places they come in contact almost daily with others recovering from or in the first stages of contagious diseases. You can't quarantine against the balance of the world, and the best you can do is to keep their blood in good condition, and thus prevent or at least mitigate the disease. You have perhaps learned from observation or experience that healthy, robust children (and this means, of course, children whose blood is pure) are not nearly so liable to contract diseases peculiar to them, and when they do it is generally in a mild form. On the other hand, weak, emaciated and sickly ones seem to catch every disease that comes along. This is because their blood is lacking in all the elements necessary to sustain and build up the body. Poisons of every description accumulate in the system, because the polluted and sluggish blood is unable to perform its proper functions.

Such children need a blood purifier and tonic to give strength and vitality to their blood, and S. S. S., being a purely vegetable remedy, makes it the safest and best for the delicate constitutions of children. S. S. S. is not only a perfect blood medicine, but is pre-eminently the tonic for children; it increases their appetites and strengthens the digestion and assimilation of food. If your children have any hereditary or acquired taint in their blood, give them S. S. S. and write to our physicians for any information or advice wanted; this will cost you nothing, and will start the little weaklings on the road to recovery. Book on Blood and Skin Diseases free.

WINE OF CARDUI

HEALTHY OLD AGE.

LARUE, BENTON CO. ARK., Aug. 4.
I am 49 years old and have been suffering with Change of Life. I had flooding spells so bad that none thought I could live. My husband got me Wine of Cardui and it saved my life. I am like another person since taking it.
MRS. E. B. TOWNSEND.

Wine of Cardui

It is the devout wish of nearly all people to live to a ripe old age. None of us want to die young. This universal desire can be realized if care be taken of the health in early and middle life. A little precaution then will add many years to our existence. Death can be kept away a long time. Happy, healthy old age will be the lot of the woman who promptly corrects the ailments which afflict her sex. In youth, Wine of Cardui will take the female child safely over the dividing line between girlhood and womanhood. As a wife she needs it to help her through the trials of pregnancy and childbirth with as little discomfort as possible. At the Change of Life it will help her over the dangerous place that appears in her pathway between 40 and 50. Then will come many years of truly blissful existence. She will grow old slowly and gracefully. To the last she will preserve that charm and beauty which are always characteristic of perfectly healthy grandmothers. It is for women alone to decide whether they will be healthy or sick. The remedy for their sickness is close at hand.

THE FLAGLER DIVORCE CASE.

The Charlotte Observer, writing editorially of the divorce proceedings recently instituted by Henry M. Flagler, against his insane wife, says:

In last Saturday's Observer was told of the divorce proceedings instituted by Henry M. Flagler, the Florida railroad and hotel king, against his insane wife, in order that he may marry again. A law drafted to cover this case was put through the Florida Legislature and as soon as it was signed by the Governor, Flagler instituted this suit. His wife has been insane for thirteen years and three years has been in a private sanitarium at Pleasantville, near White Plains, New York. The World says:

"Mrs. Flagler lives more luxuriously than any other insane person in the world, perhaps. Her apartment at the sanitarium is furnished with everything the heart could desire,and every whim of hers as to her wardrobe or her food is immediately attended to, as though she was mistress of her own home. Her living expenses alone are $1,000 a month, and all is paid by Mr. Flagler, notwithstanding that his wife has a fine fortune that she will never be able to use."

This, however, modifies to a very limited extent the deep damnation of this divorce transaction. The accounts of Mrs. Flagler's individual estate have just been filed in the Supreme Court of New York by a committee appointed to pass upon them, and the estate is found to be worth about $3,000,000. It has an income of $100,000 a year from stock in the Standard Oil Company.

It is no secret that the lady of whom Flagler is enamored and whom he is to wed is a North Carolinian. A year ago The Observer received from a New York space writter a sensational and interesting story of this affair, in which the marriage now about to take place was foreshadowed and the name of the young lady given, but out of consideration of her and her family the story was not printed. We need not have been so considerate. The facts up to that time were just as this correspondent stated them and the mariage event which is about to occur will be just as the correspondent predicted.

The language used by the Observer in condemnation of this man is not forcible enough. The English language itself cannot compass the extent of his infamy in endeavoring to break asunder the ties which bind him to his unfortunate wife.

A North Carolinian Honored.

Charlotte Observer.

Prof. Jerome C. Dowd, of this city, has resigned his chair at Trinity College, Durham, and has accepted the position of resident lecturer in sociology at the University of Wisconsin. He will be in Europe all summer and will assume the duties of his new position in the fall.

Prof. Dowd's departure from North Carolina will be a loss not only to Trinity College, but to the State. As an instructor he was recognized as one of the most popular men in the State and had a healthy influence over all young men with whom he came in contact. He has written much—mostly on sociological questions—and in this way his sphere of usefulness has not been limited. The offer to him of the chair of sociology in the Wisconsin University is a considerable distinction, and it is almost certain that he will win laurels in the larger field.

Couples who get divorced and marry again need re-pairing.

Love is like chess; it's too much trouble to be fun and there isn't enough in it to make it a business.

SHOOTING OF VICAR KELLY.

An Affair of Last February, in Which a Husband Seeks Vengeance for an Alleged Wrong to His Wife, Now Being Aired in the Courts.

New York, June 17.—Thos. G. Barker was placed on trial in the Hudson county court, Jersey City, today, before Judge Blair, charged with assault with intent to kill. On February last Barker shot the Rev. John Keller, of Arlington, N. J., vicar of Trinity chapel in that place. Barker told the authorities he shot the minister because his wife told him that Keller had been guilty of criminal assault upon her.

When Keller was shot he was on his way to Fort Lee, to assist at the ordination of a minister. Barker stepped out from the shadow of a hedge and fired at him with a revolver. Keller says that he did not see his assailant One of the bullets fired by Barker went through Keller's facial bone from the right side, destroyed the sight of the right eye,and after tearing through the nasal bone, buried itself beneath the skin of the left side of the face. A second bullet shattered the fingers of the right hand. According to Barker's story, Mrs. Barker told him shortly before that about 18 months previously Mr. Keller called on her while she was alone in he house and made an improper proposal. When she repulsed him, according to the story told by Barker, the minister attacked her violently and she fainted. Barker further said his wife had been afraid to tell him the story of the assault because she knew that if she did, he would kill the minister. For some days before the alleged confession Mrs. Barker had been in a sick and nervous condition.

Mr. Keller denounced the whole story as utterly false. He declared that his whole life was a refutation of the charge.

The empanelling of the jury occupied less than an hour and then Prosecutor Erwin opened the case for the State. The prosecution at the outset introduced as evidence a photograph of the hedge behind which it is alleged Barker hid while awaiting for Keller. Another photograph showing Keller in bed after the shooting was also admitted. Hugh R. Roome and his daughter eye witnesses of the shooting, gave their testimony and identified Barker as the man who fired the shots that wounded Keller.

GEORGETOWN UNIVERSITY.

The commencement exercises of the Georgetown University will be held at noon Thursday in the newly and richly decorated Gaston Hall, named in honor of Judge William Gaston, of North Carolina. If Mrs. McKinley's health will permit and the trip to Canton is not sooner undertaken,the President as the chief executive officer of the power which authorized the university to grant degrees, will preside and confer the degrees. If Mr. McKinley is unable to be present, the president of the university will act in his stead. Degrees will be conferred upon about fifty in all.

In comment on the commencement occasion, the Washington Post, in speaking of the graduates speaks of a well known Greensboro boy. It says:

"The graduating class is notable aside from its standing in studies, for the fact that it contains descendants of some of the great men of this country's history: Young Jones, of Alexandria, is a great grandson of Chief Justice Marshall. Stephen A. Douglas, of North Carolina, is a grandson of the Stephen A. Douglas with whose name will ever be connected the title of "Little Giant." Warwick J. Kernan is a nephew of Senator Kernan, of New York.

S'SH SLEEP AT LAST

LAXAKOLA DOES IT

NO ONE BUT A MOTHER can appreciate the benefit that sound refreshing sleep gives to an ailing, teething, feverish, colicky, fretty infant.

Almost distracted by its constant crying, and worn out with weary, anxious care and watching, she tries everything possible to obtain even relief for the little sufferer.

With what comfort and delight she sees her little one drop off into a deep peaceful health-giving slumber, after its little clogged bowels are cleared of their poisonous burden by a single dose of Laxakola, the great tonic laxative and mother's remedy.

Laxakola is a pure, gentle and painless liquid laxative, and contains valuable tonic properties which not only act upon the bowels, but tone up the entire system and purify the blood. A few drops can be given with safety to very young babies, which will often relieve colic by expelling the wind and gas that cause it. Great relief is experienced when administered to young children suffering from diarrhœa, accompanied with white or green evacuations, as it neutralizes the acidity of the bowels and carries out the cause of the fermentation. LAXAKOLA will aid digestion, relieve restlessness, assist nature, and induce sleep. For constipation, simple fevers, coated tongue, or any infantile troubles arising from a disordered condition of the stomach it is invaluable.

Laxakola, the great tonic laxative, is not only the most efficient of family remedies, but the most economical, because it combines two medicines, viz.: laxative and tonic, and at one price. No other remedy gives so much for the money. At druggists, 25c. and 50c., or send for free sample to THE LAXAKOLA CO., 132 Nassau Street, N. Y., or 356 Dearborn Street, Chicago.

THEIR BAIL IS NOT EXCESSIVE.

CHIEF JUSTICE FURCHES DENIES GOLD BRICKERS RELIEF.

Petitioners Say Their Punishment is Cruel and Unusual—Solicitor Brooks Takes an Affidavit Along—Chief Justice Declines to Overrule Supreme Court decisions.

The habeas corpus petition brought by the gold brick men, was heard by Chief Justice Furches yesterday, and the lawyers who appeared before him returned to the city last night. The petition of the gold brickers alleged that the court required excessive bail, and that the punishment was cruel and unusual, and was in conflict with the State constitution, article 1, section 14. Chief Justice Furches said that the Supreme Court having recently held that the crime of conspiracy was a felony, and the punishment for felony permitted the term of imprisonment imposed by Judge Council, he did not feel warranted, even if so inclined, to override a decision of the Supreme Court, and that they having been sentenced to ten years, that bail of $5,000 would only be an average of $500 a year for their freedom and that did not seem excessive, and hence he denied the relief asked by the petitioners, and remanded them to jail to answer the judgment of the court here.

The entire argument before the Chief Justice occupied only about two hours. Solicitor Brooks carried with him and presented to the Court, an affidavit from a deputy sheriff which stated that he had heard the prisoners Howard and Hawley declare that they could give the bail, namely, $5,000

This is the last wriggle of the trio, unless they go to the Supreme Court and if they do that, that court will doubtless uphold the sentence of the lower court.

THE DOCTOR'S VISIT.

Was Enjoyed by All Who Saw Him—The Opera Last Night.

Although the weather last night was threatening, a large crowd braved the elements and attended, at the Academy of Music, the first official visit of Dr. Paracelsus, to Greensboro. He was received with applause and his departure was viewed with regret.

The cast of characters was strong, and each person in the opera seemed to be peculiarly fitted for their part.

Thse who participated, and the characters they represented, are as follows:

Isabella, Her Daughter—Miss Grace Clary.

Inez, Her Maid—Miss Lucy Glenn.

Perez, a Porter—Mr. Will McAdoo.

Sancho, a Porter—Fraz Lawson.

Don Pompsoso, an Officer—Dr. C. L. Scott.

Senor Balthazar—Dr. J. S. Betts.

Carlos, His Son—Mr. Richard Crawford.

Mr. Clarence R. Brown—As Dr. Paracelusus.

Accompainist—Mrs. Myra Albright.

Miss Clary's voice has often been heard in Greensboro, and it had lost nothing by the recent indisposition of its owner.

Miss Lola Carraway and Miss Lucy Glenn each received rounds of applause for their rendition of the difficult mucis.

The face and figure of Dr. Chas. Scott lent themeselves readily to the make up of a Spanish officer, and Richard Crawford seemed to have had previous experience as love sick gallant.

Dr. J. S. Betts, in his skull cap, resembled closely the pictures of a mank of ye olden time; but with his gray locks hanging round his head was a good a parental looking "pa" as one need want to see.

Prof. Brown as the Doctor completed the list of the principals, and the way he compounded his doses was enough to make a sick person well without the aid of his potions.

Messrs. Lawson and McAdoo as porters, assisted materially in the handling of things.

The opera was given by the pupils of Prof. Brown and the showing they made evinces the splendid teaching they have had. The costumes were resplendent, and added much to the scene.

Bananas at Auction.

Mr. C. W. Jennings sold a car of bananas yesterday afternoon at auction, and many people invested their spare change in bunches of the fruit. The old proverb which says "it's an ill wind that blows no one any good," holds true in the case of the bananas, for the shippers loss is an advantage to many persons who would not otherwise taste the bananas.

SAW AN ALIGATOR KILLED.

Frof. T. G. Pearson, who at the recent meeting of the Board of Directors of the State Normal College, was elected a member of the faculty of that institution, returned yesterday afternoon from a trip to Florida. While there he gathered several specimens of birds and animals for the museum at Guilford College. Among his prizes is an alligator, eight feet in lenghth, whose capture the professor modestly admits having seen from the limbs of a neighboring tree. He also has a saw fish, fourteen feet in length, in his collection.

Prof. Pearson has won a deserved reputation in his chosen field, and his coming to Greensboro is hailed as a valuable acquisition. He will spend a portion of the summer at the University Summer School, and the balance at Harvard University, returning to Greensboro in the fall.

Shirt Waists Laundered Like New.

You well know the comfort of a shirt waist. Some look better than others after you wash them simply because you do not wash them rightly. We make waists look like new—sometimes better; because we know how to set the color before we wash them. Our prices are 10c., 15c., and 20c. according to the amount of work on the waist. Perfectly plain waists 10c.

THE ANGLO-SAXON.

Goldwin Smith in New York Sun.

We shall agree with your correspondent in depreciating any pervision of history in the interest of those elements of the Amercian population which are not Anglo-Saxon. But equally to be deprecated is any perversion of history in the interest of the Anglo-Saxon.

This idea of the superiority of the Anglo-Saxon and the selection of him by Providence to dominate over other races and mold them after his own image seems likely to give the world some trouble. It has its source apparently in the belief of the Jews respecting the Providential supremacy of their race. There is a sect of Anglo-Israelites which imagines that the Englishman is the lineal descendant of the Jew, and the heir to his promised domination.

How much of the pure blood of the followers of Hengist and Horsa can be supposed now to run in the veins of the people who style themeslves Anglo-Saxon?

It is true, and every Englishman must feel proud of the fact, that the institutions of the United States are largely derived from England. But in England itself, these institutions, if they are partly the heritage of race, are also in large measure the gift of circumstances, particularly of the insular character of the British realm, which has saved the nation from the necessity of standing armies and the despotism which they bring in their train. After all, England had succumbed to the despotism of James II and was delivered from it not so much by the efforts of her on people as by the help of the Dutch, who thus rendered her perhaps the greatest service that ever was rendered by one nation to another.

Many hands and brains have gone to the making of the American commonwealth besides those of the Anglo-Saxon. The new world is the heritage and the hope, not of any special race or tribe, but of humanity.

DRIVEN AWAY AS A WITCH.

Farmer's Wife Accused of Being in League With the Devil

Indianapolis, Ind.—Mrs. Catherine Ferry, the wife of a German farmer of Dubois county, has been driven away from her home by the threats of nighbors who charge her with being a witch and says she has worked her evil charms to their injury by causing the death of their horses, cattle and other live stock. Yesterday one of her neighbor's horses became unmanageable and he accused Mrs. Ferry of having bewithched it and in his ager assaulted her and gave her a severe whipping.

It appears that this was the signal for the uprising in their neighborhood generally against the woman,for when she appealed to some of them for protection they also turned against her and the local Magistrate refused to interfere It is charged that she has the power of evoking the evil spirit in man or beast and that she has caused the death of several persons.

Mrs. Ferry is 60 years old and has been a resident of the county for many years. She says that the people have been prejudiced against from some cause for three or four years, but it was not till a neighbor's child died two months ago and and she attended the funeral that she learned that she was suspected of being in league with the devil.

She denies that she ever harmed any one or that she has been the cause, either directly or remotely, of the ills that her neighbors charge against her.

Parachute Didn't Work.

Statesville Landmark.

A few days ago Clyde Neill, a youth about town, undertook an experiment with disastrous results. He got on top of a shed about ten feet from the ground, opened two umbrellas and with these in his hands jumped off.His idea was that the umbrellas after the manner of a parachute, would bear him to the ground with ease and safety. But the parachute didn't work right and Neill hit the ground with a dull thud and with a force that jarred him so that he has since limpepu pupupu so that he has since walked with a limp.

their own. In ten years, under the present system, it will be impossible to get any colored help on our lands. Prescribe an educational qualification for suffrage solely, and you only stimulate the negroes in their present course. Before many years they would all be able to comply with that qualification, and the same old race problem would confront us again."

"I had an illustration of the effect of negro schools some two weeks ago," interposed Dr. Barnes. "As I was driving in the county,I passed a negro school just as the children, some forty in all, were turned loose. They jostled together in the road and made no intention of making way for me to pass, till I whipped up my horse, and forced them to fall back. Farther along I met three white children, the largest of whom, a girl, I knew.

"'Aren't you going to school Mary?" I asked her.

"'No,' she said, 'I have to stay at home to help mother with the work.'

"'Well, what about this boy?' I said to her, regarding a youngster of the trio even smaller than Mary.

"'He has to help pop plant the corn,' was her reply.

"That sort of worried me," said Dr. Barnes' comment.

"But the white farmer, whose children must stay at home to work," resumed Mr. Watson, "has all the time to pay the taxes to afford the colored children opportunities that he cannot allow his own children to have. The presentation of the subject in this light before the convention will certainly command attention. It is an issue that cannot logically be resisted. When one remembers that $1,000,000 in taxes are disbursed annually for this kind of education for the negro, and education that is radically wrong, and that the counties with a large white population bear the larger part of the burden, it is easy to see what a powerful appeal can be made for some change."

"What sort of a change would you make in the distribution of taxes for schools?"

"That is the difficult part of the problem," answered Mr. Watson. It is not easy to suggest a solution. Some method of practical education for the race in Virginia should be devised."

During a conversation about the Nottoway resolution, Mr. Watson stated that at the time hedrafted them he never had any idea they would become of any prominece in the state. "I had thought considerably about the restriction of suffrage and negro schools," he added. "One morning in Amelia,while sitting at the table waiting for my breakfast, which the cook was very slow in getting, I took out a piece of paper and wrote out something along the line of my thoughts, I did not suspect that they would attract any attention outside of my own county."

CAUSES A PROTEST.

Pistol Makers in America Aroused Over German Order.

Declare They Have Weapon Equal to Foreign Firearm—Want Merits of Two Pistols Tested—What Is Claimed for German Pistol.

The decision of the war department to purchase 1,000 automatic pistols of German manufacture has aroused a spirited protest from the American makers of a similar type of weapon. One company, whose pistol was recommended by army ordnance officers, has written the secretary of war that it has a pistol which is equal to the foreign weapon and asks that the device be submitted to a test in competition with the German pistol. The practical adoption of the foreign pistol is a result of a row between the ordnance officers and members of the board of ordnance and fortification. The former favor the American pistol and the latter, headed by Gen. Miles, favor the German pistol.

The latter, it is claimed, is capable of discharging 116 bullets a minute at a high initial velocity, but the makers of the American pistol claim for it equal or superior points of merit. The German weapon is named for its inventor, George Luger, a former officer in the Austrian army, and is made by the German arms and ammunition factory and the Fabrique Nationale of Military Arms in Belgium. This concern has manufactured about 5,000,000 Mauser rifles for European nations, and has also brought out several types of automatic pistols.

H. Tauscher, a representative of the company, said that the new pistol was the result of ten years' experiment.

"We brought out the Borchardt, the Mauser, the Mannlicher and the Bergmann," said Mr. Tauscher. "All governments sought an improvement on the revolver, which became practically useless after the cartridges in the cylinder had been fired. The first government to change was the Swiss.

"At a test which they instituted in 1896, the Borchardt, which employed the 'link system' of feeding from the magazine, was deemed superior. This is the system that has shown value in the Maxim gun and is now used in many arms. The Swiss ordnance officers asked for a smaller arm than the Borchardt, and George Luger, the inventor of the Mannlicher rifle, set to work to reconstruct the link system. Switzerland made a test in 1898, and in 1899 their military commission adopted the Luger pistol."

ASTOR LEADS LONELY LIFE.

Daily Routine of the Millionaire, Who Is Now Stopping in Paris.

William Waldorf Astor has been spending his time at Paris in as lonely a fashion as if he had not a friend on earth since his return from his excursion among the Touraine historical castles proposed for his acceptance as a permanent residence. Mr. Astor rises at 11 a. m. and soon takes a short stroll, looking aimlessly into the shop windows. He invariably lunches at one o'clock at the Elysee Palace hotel. He insists upon always having the same table and the same waiter. The waiter must give his undivided attention to Astor, though customarily he waits on four tables at the same time. The poor waiter, when he learned that his irascible client was one of the wealthiest men in the world, cried out: "Why, he never spends more than two dollars for a meal, and he regularly gives me a 15-cent tip."

Astor's morning dish is broiled trout, with green caper sauce. In the evening he often takes squash and green peas. For dessert he invariably takes ice cream. He never touches fruit. Astor's only drink is a Scotch highball. He always takes two, and sometimes three or four, before going to bed. One is brought by his valet the first thing when he awakes.

MISSING LINK OF PLANTS.

Harvard Explorers Will Sail on June 15 for Margarita Island to Search for It.

Botanical experts from Harvard university will go to Margarita island, off the coast of Venezuela, in search of the missing link of the vegetable world, according to a statement made the other day by Prof. John M. Coulter, of the University of Chicago. In tracing the evolution of plant life scientists both at Chicago and Harvard found a gap which could be explained only by the existence of a plant as yet undiscovered. Circumstances pointed to the probability of finding such a plant on Margarita island, which never has been explored by scientific men. A party of professors and students from Harvard under the charge of J. R. Johnson will sail for Venezuela on June 15. A portion of the material gathered will go to the Chicago University museum.

IN VARIOUS STATES.

Marble is said to exist in 24 of our states.

Official reports show that 673 illicit distilleries have been captured in Georgia in the last year.

A new law has come into force in Arkansas, by which a woman who wears a stuffed bird in her hat is liable to a fine.

There is said to be danger that the supply of underground water in South Dakota, obtained through artesian wells, may be exhausted by the wastefulness of the users.

It is estimated that debts amounting in round numbers to $25,000,000 were wiped out in Massachusetts between August 1, 1898, and January 1, 1901, the time in which the present national bankruptcy act has been in operation.

Eight years ago the silver production of Colorado was worth six times the value of the gold production. Last year the gold production was two and a half times the value of the silver. Colorado is now producing annually more than $20,000,000 of gold.

Commanding Attention

There are several ways of getting attention.

You can attract it, draw it, plead for it, ask for it, and command it.

Which would you rather do with your printed announcement?

Everyone who makes things to sell or who does things for money, has something so say to the public.

The way that you say it is as important at least as what you say.

What you say is your part.

The way you say it is ours.

Printing that cannot be turned down, mislaid, sidetracked or overlooked is the kind we do.

It is distinguished printing—printing that not only may, but which must be seen—printing which doesn't simply ask, but which demands and commands attention.

Are not these the characteristics you want in your printing? Then come in and talk to us about the next booklet, folder, circular or other business-bringing printing thing.
